

NatureMusicCamp in Finland

- Build and play traditional Finnish-Karelian Wind Instruments, and engage with Kanteles
- Create music with with Stones, Shells, Sticks and Trunks
- Participate in Yoga Sessions with singing and intensive breathing

Immerse yourself in the harmony of nature and the company of fellow humans. Explore stones, plants, voice, and body as musical instruments to connect with the surroundings. Enjoy creating and playing folk trumpets, clarinets and flutes. Participate in exercises that explore leadership, followership, movement, and the power of silence. Embrace sensory experiences. Find your unique sonic space in the yard and create music with nature according to your feelings.

Rhythms emerge in the ebb and flow of group activities and moments of quiet reflection; in the interplay of sound and silence; and in the shifts in alertness. Experience communal food preparation on wood stoves, utilizing the various offerings of local nature, and enjoy meals together.

This community-organized camp is for musicians, teachers, educators, social and healthcare staff, ecologists, scientists, therapists, green care entrepreneurs, and anyone interested in the topic. Welcome to experience and create wild music and meet interesting people. Your participation will contribute to the sustainable reuse of the farm property as a cultural center.
